Pneumatic transit of mails is attracting increased attention in all the large American cities, and is working well wherever it has been introduced. It would save nearly half an hour in the closing of mails in St. Louis, and its adoption here at an early date ought to be urged by the whole community. One line is working in Boston and two others are proposed to cost, respectively, $35,000 and $50,000 a year. A pneumatic tube service for parcels will be constructed in Boston by a company this spring, leading from the main retail district to the suburbs. Ten-inch tubing will be used for the parcel delivery.

New York has been the graveyard of many legal reputations. A writer in a current magazine says: "Men who dominate their towns and even their states; men who have cut great figures as governors and senators, come to New York and open a law office, and almost immediately they sink out of the public recollection. The fact is, New York is the one place in this country where politics and law will not mix. Politics is now as much of a profession as law, and each must let the other severely alone in that city."

A Massachusetts correspondent of the Albany Country Gentleman, who wants all dogs, if not killed, refrained from running at large, says the flock of sheep on many a farm is to the farmer "just the difference between enough and not being able to live."

When the writer of a letter offering the mayor of Boston $1,000 for a good position appeared at the mayor's office the other day he was found to be an honest-looking old man, who said he thought all officials got their jobs that way.

The Englishman possesses on an average $1,480, the Dutchman $720, the Belgian and the German $780, the Austrian and Italian $300, the Russian $300, the Frenchman possesses $1,500. The American? Well, he possesses all he can get.

An American woman has started a natural feet society in China, and it is said to be making progress. How would a natural hair society do over here?

It is not generally known, says the Philadelphia Record, that a great deal of the paper money that is constantly circulating about gets frequent washings in the same way as the housewife or maid goes at the dirty clothes on a Monday morning. In some banks there is a regular wash day every month, usually at the beginning, when a clerk may be seen bent over a tub, and rubbing real money up and down a washboard. The dirty greenbacks that have been saved up for a month are soaped and rubbed just like handkerchiefs and socks, and are run through a wringer before being put out to dry. The paper currency may be handled somewhat roughly, as it does not tear, because there is in it a great deal of silk and linen.

Merchants, manufacturers and professional men in Chicago who employ boys are combining to refuse applications for work from all lads under 16 who confess to the cigarette habit. Deceit on the part of the boy avails but little, since the fingers are carefully examined for the sign manual of the nicotine. As for the result, one boy recently admitted that at none of ten places to which he had gone for work in one week had the question as to whether he smoked cigarettes been omitted.

MEMORIAL SERMON.

Hence, when he stood before king Agrippa he could be so persuasive as to bring him to almost accept St. Paul's Savior. In this faith with Silas in chains in the dungeon he could sing songs of praise to God and find deliverance. In this faith he could fight with beasts at Ephesus and never fear. With this faith he could endure the perils of the deep: the cruel scourgings and severest trials with patience and final triumph. His experience on the way to Damascus when he met the Lord himself and submitted to his divine direction was the beginning of his triumphant life of faith. Hence he could explain triumphantly, "I have finished my course." He had in view no doubt contests in the arena, when the contestants were stripped of all superfluous clothing reduced in flesh by a plain diet and strict discipline, striving with all power to reach the goal and win the race, press toward the work, then when the goal was reached, the prize was won, the crown placed on the brow, the multitudes applaud, then is complete satisfaction.

Henceforth there is laid up for me, he says, a crown of righteousness; the crown of laurel soon fades; the palms soon perish; the applause is soon ended; but to me in my race they have no end, but are forever bright in amaranthine freshness. In our contest here they must soon be repeated or we fail. Here only one can receive the prize. Not so in the Spiritual warfare everyone who runs may receive the prize and it is secure forever. The Eternal Spirit of truth and righteousness will live forever. The principles of liberty, justice, and the rights of man are imperishable. And these grow when once implanted in the human heart. They go on with accelerated movement in the Spirit world as we near the great white throne of God.

Many are the wrongs we suffer here, but we may be safe that a just God rules and sometimes he will see that all wrongs are righted and each shall receive his just recompense of reward.

While we would give to each and all his due nor diminish one jot or tittle from the vast amount of those who bore brunt of the battle, yet there is a class which receive but scant justice in the past who it seems to me should not be forgotten—I mean those men and women and children who could not go to the front but at home toiled and suffered that the sufferings of the battle field and hospital and tent might be mitigated. Wives, Mothers, Sweethearts, bore the agony of separation and wept as they eagerly waited for news from the front, an agony that cannot be described, but was felt and was hard to bear. Hence those who went in the sanitary and christian commission without pay for services and ministered to the sick and wounded on the battle field, buried the dead, and sent home the little memorials, though suffering loss of health and in many cases giving up their lives, are worthy of the kindest remembrance.

But let us remember that we are fast nearing the end of the war. The Campaign ground is not far off. The command to halt will soon be given and we will be mustered out. Until then let us keep our courage, be strong in faith, run with patience the race to the end, then with St. Paul be able to say, "I have fought a good fight, I have kept the faith, I have finished my course, henceforth there is a crown of righteousness for me." And in triumph say, O death where is thy sting, O grave where is thy victory? Thanks be to God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

A Georgia judge recently, in deciding a case against a man who had been missing for many years, then suddenly appeared and claimed part of an estate, made this comment: "I scarcely think the statute of relations will stop and wait for him any more than the village of Failing Waters awaited the awakening of Rip Van Winkle, or the wife of Enoch Arden awaited his return."

It is said there will be more hemp raised in Kentucky this year than has been raised in a great many years. There was a time when hemp was the main product of Kentucky, but in late years it has become such an expensive article to raise that the farmers gave it up. Now the price of hemp is high and the farmers are taking advantage.

SINFUL HABITS IN YOUTH

LATER EXCESSES IN MANHOOD
MAKE NERVOUS, DISEASED MEN

THE RESULT of ignorance and folly in youth, overexertion of mind and body induced by lust and exposure are constantly wrecking the lives and future happiness of thousands of promising young men. Some fall and wither at an early age, the bloom of manhood, while others are forced to drag out a weary, fruitless and melancholy existence. Others reach maturity but find no pleasure or comfort in the pleasures of life. The farm, the office, the workshop, the pulpit, the trades and the professions.

Wm. A. Walker of 15th Street says: "I have suffered untold agonies for my 'venereal' disease. I was in the hands of many doctors, but it was all in vain. I was in the hands of Dr. K. & K. who restored me to manhood by their New Method Treatment. I feel new life thrill through my nerves. We were united again and are happy. This was six years ago. Dr. K. & K. are scientific specialists and I heartily recommend them."

Wm. A. Walker says: "I owe my life to Dr. K. & K. At 14 I contracted a bad habit. At 21 I had all the symptoms of Syphilis, Weakness and Spermatorrhoea. Emissions were distressing and weakening my vitality. I married at 24 under advice of my family doctor, but it was all in vain. In eighteen months we were divorced. I then consulted Dr. K. & K. who restored me to manhood by their New Method Treatment. I feel new life thrill through my nerves. We were united again and are happy. This was six years ago.
